FAS PRESS RELEASE

FAS Prize 2021 for academic research on employee share ownership Call for research

The Scientific Committee of the French Federation of Associations for Employee Share ownership (FAS) will award on November 9th, 2021 the “Prize for academic research on employee share ownership”.

Endowed with 3000 euros in 2021, the prize aims at rewarding annually thorough academic research works (Ph D thesis, books, articles in scientific reviews, study cases) on legal¹, economic, social and management aspects of employee shareholder ownership in French companies or in companies established in other countries published since 2019. It includes also impact studies on labour relations and companies governance. Works carried out in the framework of a French CIFRE contract would also be welcome.

Concerned persons are invited to send a short description (1 to 2 pages) describing the object of their works to M. Philippe BERNHEIM, Vice-chairman of FAS Scientific Committee*, at the latest on October 11th, 2021. After a preliminary review, selected candidates will be asked to provide a pdf copy of their work. The prize will be awarded by the FAS Scientific Committee during its meeting held on November 9th, 2021.

For any further precision or detail, please contact M. Philippe BERNHEIM*
